

You're One Helluvver Beautiful Girl – original, Alan Wright

Words can come quickly, inspired by life's beauty
Through joy and through love and through pain
I can draw every metaphor
Find words I'm searching for Summer and through winter rain
Instead of the seasons,
The seas of the nations
Surrendered this valuable pearl!
I've said it before and I'll say it again
"You're one helluvver beautiful girl!"

I draw inspiration from people around me
I see a sweet smile on a face
I draw from impression
And make a decision
To believe there is hope in our race
From songs that we sing
And bells that we ring
Mandolin to a bag-piper's skirl
I've said it before and I'll say it again
"You're one helluvver beautiful girl!"

No shortage of image to lift my heart's yearnings
To find words to say how I feel
Can I make a pretence
With words so intense
When my longings for you are so real
I ask in advance
To enjoy a close dance
To set up my life in a whirl
I've said it before and I'll say it again
"You're one helluvver beautiful girl!"
